GOOD LITTLE NEWS... Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hinckley are delighted with the news that their new pound-and-half little girl has passed the critical period at the Torrance Memorial Hospital.

Tiny Newborn Passes Critical 48-Hour Period; Gains Weight

Tiny Katherine Elizabeth Hinckley was reported past the critical 48-hour period and doing nicely in her incubator at the Torrance Memorial Hospital this week and rapidly approaching the pound-and-a-half mark.

The mite, third child of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hinckley, co-owners of Hinckley's Market at 2400 Narbonne avenue, arrived last Monday morning. Hospital attendants rushed the two-and-a-half-month premature baby in to an oxygen-fed incubator without risking time to weigh the new arrival. They estimated the weight to be approximately one pound six or seven ounces.

They said the tot was about 11 inches long. Her tiny head would fit into an ordinary water glass, they claimed. Still, in the incubator the child has not been removed even for weighing. She is fed with an eye dropper.

The Hinckleys, and their other two children, Freddie, 7, and Linda Susan, 3, live at 3168 240th street.

The baby smallest ever to be born alive at the Torrance Memorial Hospital, was delivered by Dr. Kurt Shery.

The hospital will be the newborn's home for at least another two months.

"We are in a competitive tax rate dollar field with surrounding communities. We must consider the taxpayer and industries if we are to continue to attract additional industries and other commerce to our city. It is difficult to attract other industries unless we have something different to offer."

Dr. Hull reported that the Chamber of Commerce at Monday's meeting of the Board of Directors also had endorsed the multi-million dollar issue.

According to Plummer the bond issue will increase the tax rate by approximately 39 cents.

Fair

with its grandstand capable of accommodating 6,000 persons at each performance, special stages will be constructed throughout the fair grounds for the presentation of sensational specialty acts which will be changed at frequent intervals during the 94-day run of the fair.

Some thirty acres have been set aside for gay midway, a frontier town of the Old West in the days when the horse was the chief means of transportation, a rodeo grounds and a kiddies' playland.

As befits the theme of the fair, the show management has given extensive consideration to the flow of traffic. Eight automobile gates will give access to a parking area capable of handling 20,000 cars at a time, surrounding the fair grounds on three sides, the fourth side being occupied by the gigantic "Cavalcade of Transportation" stage.

The area is so designed that no matter where their cars are parked, no visitor will be more than a few hundred feet from the nearest of nine entrances to the fair grounds proper. Inside the grounds, transportation will be available to take them speedily and comfortably to any desired section and return them to the gate by which they entered at the day's end.

Hard surfaced roadways, 46 feet wide, will give easy and convenient access to the "Cavalcade of Transportation" stage, concessions and midway attractions.
